

Institute of Medicine's
"Crisis Standards of Care: Need for A
toolkit for Indicators and Triggers"

&

Medical Lessons Learned from Chernobyl and
Fukushima – Daiichi
Nuclear Disasters

Abdul M. Memon, MD, FACP, FACEP
Chief Medical Officer,
Disaster and Emergency Preparedness
Jackson Health System

Dr. Memon is the Chief Medical Officer for Disaster and Emergency Preparedness for Jackson Health System in Miami and is Board Certified in Internal Medicine, Emergency Medicine and Pulmonary Medicine. Dr. Memon was Chief of Emergency Medicine at UM-Jackson Medical Center from 1999 to 2006. He has been involved with the preparation of Jackson Memorial Hospital, Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) response since October 2001 and he now chairs the Medical Subcommittee of the Emergency Management Planning Committee for Jackson Health System.

Dr. Memon is a founding member and has been the Co-chair of Miami-Dade County Hospital Preparedness Consortium. He is a member of the Health and Medical Subcommittee of Southeast Florida Domestic Security Task Force as well as the Florida Department of Health's Strategic Planning Oversight Committee, and was the Co-chair of the original group in 2004 that published "Recommended Hospital Staff Core Competencies for Disaster Preparedness". Dr. Memon also developed the "Biological Disaster Preparation, Response and Recovery Toolkit for Florida Hospitals".

Dr. Memon has given presentations related to Bioterrorism Preparedness and Pandemic Influenza at local, regional, state and national level. He has been the recipient of "Golden Apple Award" for the "Best Teacher" from the Senior Class (1980) at New Jersey College of Medicine at Newark N.J. He is also the Recipient of 2004 "Golden Award" from Miami-Dade County Health Department for Contributions to the Health and well being of the residents of Miami-Dade County.

Miracles made daily.

Jackson
MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

